WINE MAKING

The berries are run off and pressed early in the morning in order to preserve the aromas. Each grape variety is vinified separately, with temperature control during the alcoholic fermentation, to give more complexity to the future wine. Racking on fine lees, and tasting to find the right blending, before bottling for a second fermentation.

From the 9th month of horizontal storage of the bottles on laths, we can disgorge on demand, with riddling, before the final corking with a wire-cap. This is the same process as Champagne.

*Disgorge: When the wine maker evacuates the sediments (which appeared during the fermentation), after riddling on laths.

TASTING - WINE & FOOD PAIRING

White wine with a gently gold colour, refined and fruity, with fine bubbles and a nice length in the mouth. Excellent as an aperitif or with a dessert. To serve chilled.

PACKAGING

75cl Champagne bottle, boxes of 6 bottles (or 12 for professionals).

Domaine Raphaël Luneau, R de la Grange is a family vineyard of 30 hectares, located around 20 km at the South-East of Nantes, in the heart of the AOP Muscadet Sèvre et Maine, in the Loire Valley. Today, Raphaël carries on the family tradition and manages the vineyard with his father Rémy, following eight generations of wine growers. From the vines to the wine making, they know how to combine traditional and modern methods, in order to produce high quality wines, particularly fruity and well-balanced, while respecting the biodiversity and the different terroirs. The wines reflect the Luneau family's experience and are regularly awarded during national competitions.
